1963 THE KEY

BOWLING GREEN STATE UNIVERSITY
BOWLING GREEN, OHIO, VOLUME XLII

 Below right, upon the foundations of learning, knowledge is built

PERSPECTIVE

The University—Vista Of A Place In Time, People In Perspective, Panorama Of Learning

From this lofty viewpoint the University looks like a football stadium, parking lots, and a lot of streamlined buildings stretching out over the plains. From the groundling's viewpoint it is still a lot of buildings, parking lots and athletic fields. But the groundling can see the people—people trying to learn something out of books and buildings and bunsen burners. Down there the people wear kilts and parkas and carry umbrellas and briefcases. It is an age of living that is not to be confused with the 20's, the 40's, or the approaching 2020's. It is the Bowling Green State University of 1963, when Cuba was a crisis, the Kennedys were building a dynasty, and planes were coming down with lives while rockets tried to get them to the moon. Down there is Bowling Green 1963, a moment of time standing still just long enough for the artist to portray it, the writer to describe it, or the musician to control it. Up here it is time moving, as an old Chapel silently holds its own against the rhythm of today's air hammer and tomorrow's austere skyscraper rising to greet a new president and another frontier of learning.

Learning begins like spring, bursting from an aged book like a blossom rising from the ancient earth . . .

Then hides itself behind a shy smile, until a spark of understanding reveals itself in the clasp of a hand on a pleasant "Good Night."

Tower Of Learning—Tool Of Aspiring People

The many faces of learning are mirrored in the struggle over a word and the reflected concern for success.

Between learning and learning there are the dreams that don't include zoology frogs—and the class nap after the wild weekend

People used to claim that learning was only for the lazy or the rich, that "schoolin'" was for preachers and lawyers. Today learning is the tool of the cook, the salesman, the comic strip writer. It gets him a better job, higher pay, and admission to intellectual circles, but most of all learning gives him his own worth as an individual. He listens to a book and discovers what has been. He listens to a lecture and evaluates what now is. He listens to himself and hopes for what can be.

The University is the Ivory Tower of learning that must be ascended to attain knowledge, but once attained, that knowledge has no value until the Tower has been descended, the Ivy Curtain parted, and the individual has given of himself. "We wanderers, ever seeking the lonelier way, begin no day where we ended another day; and no sunrise finds us where sunset left us."

—Gibran

"Now as I see it"—Dr. Daniel B. Ramsdell gives historical view point.

Concentration is often the key to knowledge. It is a skill necessary in itself for success in jewelry class, in chemistry lab, and during final exams. It is the "A" for effort.

Sensitivity To Life Sounds, Sights, Smells, Symbols Of The Campus

Comic and tragic symbols of the theatre are seen in the smiles . . .

Individuals seek their place among the many. And the many strive toward individuality.

. . . And frowns of the players on the stage of life at the University.

Few are chosen, but many seek the honors, the grades, the office, the special society—the recognition of being apart and a part.

The University—restless vitality of youth; mild wisdom of age; friendly roar of pounding thought as varied, as sad, as gay as the people themselves; chimes that mark the hours frequently, but not consistently; long, skillful arms pushing the score up another notch; coatless, hatless professors strolling between classes and coffee; raucous shouts from an impromptu football game on Saturday morning; strange odors of cooking tomatoes and baking buns; stranger tastes of sulphur in the air from an over-worked heating plant; black ties witnessing social events from a reserved box in the Ballroom, tempests in the court rooms, laughter in the Nest, big people, little people, passive people, striving people—the People of Bowling Green State University.

Some find a special apartness by joining together—the special apartness of common interests, and a common future.

Alone while a thousand sleep, one student finds solitude to pursue the knowledge for the test tomorrow and the test of tomorrow.

Conversations among the talented, the curious, and the concerned become moments of perception across widest culture barriers.

Perfection demands dedication to the ideal, whether the ideal is a scientific truth, philosophical maxim, or THE word.

Patterns Of Learning — Conversation, Culture, Concentration, Creativity

Graceful movement requires the same discipline and freedom as academic achievement.

Patterns of life carved themselves out of the raw materials of learning—knowledge emanating from the musty stacks and mute corridors of the library—the quick, almost intuitive grasping of a great idea from the page of a finely printed book—the inspiration of a lecture from the scribbled notes of a dedicated scholar.

From the outside come people to dance or play the piano, to share a cup of coffee and a bit of talent. To some this learning is a new experience—these opera singers, these stars of the intellectual realm, this classic music, this artistic way of looking at the world. Some master this way of life. Some fall short with their sights still set on the heights. But all are a part of the pattern of living which make up the University days of routine and creativity.

Winner's defeat—the challenge that makes scholars of the average students, leaders of followers, champion teams

Perspective—University Perceived By People Who Play The Parts

Perspective is the way a person looks at the parts of a whole from a particular place in time. Students, professors, presidents, deans, alumni, all have their individual ways of seeing the Bowling Green State University of 1963. To each of them there is a distinctive part of the University that is seen only through the light of their personal attitudes, experiences, and achievements.

There are some who have browsed through the fading pages of an old KEY or NEWS. There are some who have lived through those fading pages, but only a few of those some can ever sense the magnitude of a growing University. For them there is the vista of a University mellowed by the deepening lines of tradition teeming with the vibrancy of its youth.

Behind the victory—the spirit of the University 1963, triumph of time, cultivation of culture, people in perspective.

Education our challenge—Excellence our goal—The University motto is the key to four years of preparation.

"Going To College" Lessons Oriented New Students

The "brainwashing" of the Freshman Class occurred prior to the beginning of classes in September. During the three-day session, the "green" students were informed of the policies and traditions of the University. They were introduced to their academic advisors and to the deans of their respective colleges. Student orientation leaders explained the operation of student government, Greek life, religious organizations, and various campus activities. Freshman Open House was held in the Union on Saturday evening, and everyone was treated to recreation and refreshments. Tuesday night, the new students attended the "Freddy Falcon Review," a variety show presented by upperclassmen. The Ballroom hosted the New Students Convocation, the highlight of the orientation period. This year's program consisted of a panel discussion on "The Marks of a University Education."

Parents of freshmen girls get a real workout as they help move their daughters' "necessities" into Founders Quadrangle.

2,200 members of the Class of 1966 are welcomed by President Ralph G. Harshman at the Convocation for New Students.

New students' parents get the "scoop" on campus life at BG from James Hof of Alumni Affairs.

Moving so fast that opponents and teammates alike seemed to pass in a blur, Falcon carrier Jay Cunningham ground his way through a mass of flailing arms and legs to bring the game to the final 45-6 score.

This Freddy Falcon did his last hi-jinks for Bowling Green. The flapping, hopping bird graduated as Charles Schultz with the Class of '63.

A Band, A Bird, A Victorious Team —This Was Homecoming

The sun shone (figuratively, at least) in spite of on-again, off-again rain as students, alumni, and faculty watched the Falcons tally the fourth successive win against Kent State University, during the 1962 Homecoming weekend. The victory also marked the fourth winning of the semicentennial trophy, presented in 1959 by the Golden K organization of Kent in commemoration of both schools' anniversaries. The trophy is awarded each year to the winner of the Kent-Bowling Green contest, and the team compiling the most wins at the time of the centennial receives permanent possession of the trophy. Judging from the scores of the past four years, the Golden Flashes might as well prepare their presentation speech for the year 2010!

Encouraged by the cessation of showers, 12,262 moist but enthusiastic spectators recalled Auld Lang Syne a few months early, as the Marching Band performed "Forty Years of Broadway" music during the half-time. Perhaps this was the reason so many fans ignored the beckoning comforts of the Union and its offers of hot coffee to remain in their seats.

But whatever the reason, the onlookers looked on 'til the "Old Alpha" victory bell tolled of another triumph.

Gamma Phi Beta placed first in the display contest with its theme, "Falcons get your gun—put the Flashes on the run."

Who do you think will win? Voters and contestants alike asked this question of each other. But no amount of speculation could provide an answer until the vote was counted. Votes were tabulated on an IBM card sorter by William Misamore and Dale Rothman.

Chance—Main Element Of Homecoming Contests

Emotions ran high during the days before Homecoming with the most predominant that of anticipation: Queen and court candidates wondered who the chosen ones would be. "When the election results are announced, will I be one of the lucky five? What shall I do if I win? If I lose, then what?" Members of the football team knew what they'd do if they won. They'd go on to win more games and, hopefully, the MAC crown. But what if they didn't win? There was always that chance. What would Homecoming be like if the final score favored Kent? Students felt anticipation, too. A slight but definite current of anxiety ran through the Nest. Bets were placed on the elections, the game, and the weather. Some of those bets were lost and a few tears were shed, but the rain stopped, the game was won, and the queen and her court reigned over all.

And she danced with her escort Gordon W. Gummere as the queen of the ball that night.

Hamming it up before the game, these enthusiastic alumni refuse to be daunted by the dismal environment.

Alumni Returned To Cheer and Reminisce

Graduation from Bowling Green does not entail separation from the University. Alumni are kept informed by the Alumni Association. Directed by James Hol, the Association sends the Sports Letter, the Alumni Bulletin, and news of special events to 16,000 alumni.

One of the special events of the year designed especially for alums is Homecoming, featuring football, dinner, and a dance. Other events include the recognition nights for distinguished personnel of the University. The most recent was held in Toledo, to honor Harold "Andy" Anderson, retiring coach of the BG basketball team.

Each year a "Distinguished Alumnus Award" is given to an outstanding graduate of the University. This year, Mr. Earl Brooks, graduate of '35, now professor at Cornell University, is being recognized. Mr. Brooks serves as consultant for organizations throughout the country.

Alumni Club of Toledo honors Coach Anderson with a scholarship established in his name.

Dr. William T. Jerome III

Bowling Green's Sixth President Is Selected

In September, 1963, Dr. William Travers Jerome III will become the new president of Bowling Green State University. Selected by the Board of Trustees after careful consideration of many candidates, he will become the sixth person to hold this position.

Dr. Jerome is well qualified for this post, as he graduated magna cum laude from Colgate University, is presently Dean of the College of Business Administration at Syracuse University, and is listed in Who's Who in America and Presidents and Deans of American Colleges and Universities.

The key to his life is that he has had fun out of it, and is willing to share it. "Coming to Bowling Green is a wonderful opportunity, and I would love to talk to the students about their problems. I want students to leave Bowling Green, and say, this has been such a wonderful experience that I want to continue my education throughout my life. My challenge is to make Bowling Green one of the best schools in the country," concluded Dr. Jerome.

Dr. Jerome, with Dr. K. H. McFall, and President Emeritus, Frank J. Prout listen to retiring President Ralph G.

Harshman during a conference held in January. At this time, Dr. Jerome met with the administrative staff.

Peter, Paul, and Mary presented folk music to a "standing room only" audience.

Exhibitions of advanced gymnastics were presented last spring by the Danish Gym Team.

Mrs. Chun Hui Chang Tsui, wife of the Nationalist Chinese ambassador to Japan and mother of a University foreign student, demonstrated flower arrangements and oriental cooking.

Ex-Governor Michael V. Disalle supported President Kennedy's stand on the Cuban crisis during a campus visit.

Special Guests Enjoyed Campus Hospitality

An ex-United States counterspy, a Finnish professor, and a guitar thumping folk-singing trio—these were only a few of the entertaining and informative visitors that traveled to the University's campus this year.

Dan T. Moore, head of an important counter-intelligence operation during World War II and originator of the "human bomb" project, related his fascinating experiences in the political underworld. Mr. Moore, who worked on "Operation Black Diamond" and "Operation Spy Pickup", spoke on "The Terrible Game of Spies and Spy Warfare".

Dr. Axel Grandell, professor and rector of a business college in Abo, Finland, visited Bowling Green as part of a tour of American Universities sponsored by the United States State Department. Professor Grandell commented on the fact that Finnish university students have much more academic freedom than do their American counterparts.

Popular folk-singing trio, Peter, Paul, and Mary presented traditional music in a modern form during their campus visit in mid-winter. Described as "the two young men who know how to wear Brooks Brothers suits with their beards and guitars" and the "tall silky blonde who believes in looking as good as she sounds," the trio was applauded by all who attended.

Returning to BGSU for the third time, the Roger Wagner Chorale gave new sounds to old favorites.

Philadelphia Symphony Orchestra (top), directed by Eugene Ormandy, and the Pittsburgh Symphony Orchestra, under William Steinberg, were guests

Masters Of Music Sparked The Cultural Season

Each year the University Union exceeds the last in its cultural program, and 1962-63 was no exception. The premiere of the Artist Series saw Nora Kovach and Istvan Rabovsky portraying Russian ballet in its finest tradition. Byron Janis, regarded as one of the leading pianists of his time, and Jerome Hines, Metropolitan Opera star and a well-known radio and television personality, performed next.

Returning to the University were the Pittsburgh Symphony Orchestra, Roger Wagner Chorale, and Philadelphia Symphony Orchestra. Jim Bishop, internationally syndicated columnist, inaugurated the Lecture Series with an entertaining talk on anecdotes about famous people. He spoke in place of the late Eleanor Roosevelt. Richard C. Hottel, CBS news commentator, spoke on "The World Today," replacing Meredith and Rini Willson, cancelled due to Mr. Willson's emergency operation. Nancy Hanselman, the first woman correspondent of CBS News since the advent of television, visited the University in the spring. The lecture Series concluded with the returning appearance of the versatile Vincent Price.

World-renowned Jerome Hines showed the campus why he is a leading basso.

Great American pianist of our time, Byron Janis, was ardently acclaimed with two standing ovations.

Nora Kovach and Istvan Robovsky hailed the opening of the Artist Series with a program of delicate ballet.

Animated Speakers Challenged The Campus Intellect

Jim Bishop opened Lecture Series with tales of famous people.

Nancy Hanschman, a producer of TV's "Face The Nation," talked.

"World Today" was commented on by Richard C. Hottelet of CBS.

Talented Vincent Price concluded the Series.

Christmas Came, And The Campus Turned To Meet It

During the three weeks between Thanksgiving and Christmas recesses, a spirit descended upon the campus—accompanied by a blizzard of snow, ice, and cold. True to tradition, however, students carried on their normal activities, and the University, the classroom activities. The weekend before Christmas vacation was climaxed by the AWS-UAO Christmas formal, and the presentation of Handel's "Messiah." In spite of the crippling storm and road blocks, Les Elgart and his orchestra played for the annual dance. Coeds and their escorts slipped and slid to the Ballroom to enter a "Winterland By Night," lighted with Christmas trees and snow-covered lampposts. Intermission entertainment turned to the tropics and the Friars from Trinidad. Sunday night, the University Chorus, A Cappella Choir, and Collegiate Chorale, under the baton of Dr. Warren A. Joseph, produced Handel's story of the Redemption in three parts. The pastoral symphony featured the University Symphony Orchestra, the soloists, Carol Jeffery, Carolyn Hohn, Robert Stone, and Jon Eckert.

Toys and the "twist" bring the season's cheer to underprivileged children of the area as the Greeks entertain.

Bonnie Gowronski, retiring Miss BGSU, crowns her successor, Judy L. Malan. Looking on are Mrs. McFall, Gwendolyn Jones, first runner-up Elaine Bowman, second runner-up and Vice-President Kenneth H. McFall.

Miss Ohio Returned To Crown Miss BGSU

Music from Miss Malan's violin and the provocative dancing of Miss Gowronski are tagged top talent.

Miss Ohio of 1963, known to BGSU students as Bonnie Gawronski, made a triumphant appearance at the third annual Miss BGSU contest sponsored by social fraternity Alpha Tau Omega. Finishing runner-up in the Miss Ohio contest, she assumed the duties of the queen following Jacquelyn Jean Mayer's victory in the Miss American Pageant.

Surprise Master of Ceremonies, Dr. Donald Kleckner, enlivened the gay evening by relating personal stories which successfully left the audience howling in laughter. Beauty and talent displayed by the finalists was recognized and appreciated by the receptive audience. Patterned after the Miss America Pageant, the winner was judged on talent, beauty, personality, poise, figure, and dress. The contest was divided into three categories: bermuda shorts, evening gowns, and talent. Twenty candidates, narrowed to ten finalists, represented the women's residence halls and sororities. Victorious in the severe competition was Miss Judith L. Malan, who represented Shatzel Hall. Finishing first runner-up was Gwendolyn Jones, and second was Elaine Bowman.

Lecturing to 400 psychology students, Dr. Martha G. Weber discusses the subject matter on hand.

BGSU Produced Psychology Lecture Starring Dr. Weber

Rapid growth of the University in size and number of students facilitated the beginning of closed-circuit television this winter. The first experiment was performed before a class of 400 psychology students featuring the instructor Dr. Martha Weber, professor of education. For a comparison at the end of the semester, 400 other psychology students began meeting in person with their instructor, Dr. Brian Sutton-Smith.

The televised course was the first of a series of steps to improve and expand the use of the speech department's television studios. The University has sent a request to the Federal Communications Commission to construct the one-kilowatt UHF noncommercial, educational TV station on campus.

Waiting for the "You're on!" signal, Dr. Weber smiles patiently and concentrates on the technicians.

Rocks, Families, Rats Were Objects of Faculty Research

Individual stages of granite are determined by Dr. Milford S. Lougheed, associate professor of geology.

Research conducted by members of the faculty this year was highly specialized and covered the entire academic spectrum. Dr. Milford S. Lougheed studied the sequence of events which took place in the formation of the Sierra Nevada Mountains. The project dealt with the time of emplacement of certain igneous rocks in the mountain range. "Certain coloring agents in ceramic glazes" was the title of a research project by Mr. Charles Lakofsky. His experimentation centered around the rare earths, and the object of the study was to determine what rare earth metals can be used as coloring agents in ceramic glazes. Research on "The American Family as revealed through the criticism and fiction of William Dean Howells" was conducted by Dr. Alma J. Payne. Dr. Payne studied the change in status rolls of members of the American family. Dr. Morgan M. Brent was concerned with determining what environmental factors are involved in the transformation of single-celled protozoa into flagellates. His research centered on the transformation of an amoeba into a flagellate by chemical and physical means. Dr. John R. Schuck studied the responses of rats to certain visual images.

Charles Lakofsky of the Art Department experiments with rare earths and uranium coloring agents in glazes.

Students Independently Explored, Experimented

Individual research was one of the most important aspects of the university education. The classroom alone cannot provide the student with all the information necessary for the mastery of his discipline. By conducting research, however, the student gains new insights into the nature of his inquiry and becomes better acquainted with the relationships between different branches of knowledge.

Academic research usually consisted of the general exploration of a topic through the study of other literature written on the subject. At times the investigation was in the form of experimentation in areas about which there are very few facts available. In either case, the information gained through research was the cornerstone for the cultural and educational development of our society.

Key King Finalists: Donald Pollock, Zeta Beta Tau; Richard Rogers, Sigma Phi Epsilon; Knut Dahl, Beta Theta Pi; and John Moyer, Phi Delta Theta.

Martin Osmond, Sondra Jackson Are Miss America Favorites

Photographs of the 1963 KEY King and Queen candidates were mailed to Atlantic City, New Jersey. Within a few days, Jacquelyn Jean Mayer, Miss America of 1963, returned the photographs and her selection of Martin Osmond and Sondra Jackson as winners of the all-campus KEY contest.

A junior from Mansfield, Marty represented Sigma Chi social fraternity. He is a speech major in the College of Liberal Arts.

Sondra, who is from Troy, represented Harmon Hall. She is a freshman, majoring in elementary education.

As a student at Northwestern University, Miss Mayer was well qualified to select the 1963 KEY King and Queen. The same attributes make for popularity on any college campus—pleasing appearance, as well as academic and extracurricular activity.

Miss Mayer was previously acquainted with University students when she worked at the Huron Playhouse.

Hot sunshine doesn't seem to bother these Saturday afternoon twisters.

Springtime – When The BG Campus Turned To Thoughts Of . . . ??

Study—love—relaxation—though not necessarily in that order, reflected some of the “musts” of the college student's life. The seasons of the year, to a great degree, influenced the mood of the students, with spring being the season of “awakening.” In the fall, the feeling was one of expectation, of greeting old friends and making new ones. Winter and the snow was a cold yet beautiful season, with studies and basketball the major interests. The gradual transition between winter and spring was the reporting of semester grades.

Spring, with its blue skies and bright sunshine, set in motion a fever of activities and emotions. There was a combination of moods—getting “high,” falling in love, and most of all—doing nothing. Studies seemingly were forgotten, twisting parties were the rage, and the warm weather beckoned exploration. Summer was nearing, and the only shock which brought students back to reality was final exams. Yet somehow the prevailing thought was, “Oh well, I gotta enjoy life sometime.”

When even a booth in the Nest seems like a paradise apart—spring blooms with the trees, lilacs, and susceptible hearts.

Letters or studies? Whatever they're doing, it seems a pleasant way to spend an afternoon when the library is stuffy and classes are dull.

Spring Sprung With Weekend Of Royalty, Floats And Rain

Elegantly gowned in satin robe and crown, Queen Judith L. Kiss reigned over the 1962 Spring Weekend. Gracing her court were Robyn Reinhart, freshman attendant; Gwen Jones, junior attendant; Linda Neubeck, senior attendant; and Roberta Tripp, sophomore attendant.

The Lettermen, nationally popular recording artists, crooned themselves into the hearts of every dreamy-eyed couple at the Anniversary Prom.

Rain and Judith L. Kiss reigned at the 1962 Spring Weekend festivities. Despite a steady drizzle that dampened trenchcoats but not spirits, students brightened at the coronation of Queen Judy and the presentation of her court Friday evening. After frantic hours of float building, the final specimens were gathered by their weary creators in the parking lot and started on their way past the critical judges, through the town streets, and to the University Stadium.

Winner for the past two years, Sigma Phi Epsilon, paired with Alpha Chi Omega, once more received the first place award for its efforts. Their "Anthony and Cleopatra" float, dressed with more than 40,000 colorful paper flowers, proudly took its place in front of the Union. Delta Gamma and Phi Delta Theta carried out the Shakespearean theme, winning second place recognition with their revolving world depicting "All the World's a Stage."

That evening the company of an umbrella was exchanged for a pretty date. Couples flocked to the Ballroom for the Anniversary Prom where songs by the Lettermen sparked the evening's fun.

As Cleopatra and her court paraded by, the judges selected and recorded the winning points for the float

"Anthony and Cleopatra." Sigma Phi Epsilon and Alpha Chi Omega combined to enter this float.

Excellence Took A Bow During The Pomp Of Recognition Day 1962

A parade of black caps and gowns, colorful hoods, and swinging tassels moved sedately across campus from the Administration Building to the Union. The strains of a pompous march by the University Band greeted the gowned faculty members and graduating seniors as they entered the ballroom.

It was Recognition Day for the students who had made outstanding contributions to campus life. Various awards for achievement were presented by twenty departments, the three colleges, and the University. The senior honor societies, Cap and Gown for women and Omicron Delta Kappa for men, publicly announced their newest members. An exclamation of surprise, a moment of respect, and then a burst of applause resounded for the outstanding senior man and woman, Clark Tibbits and Helen Moles. Miss Moles was president of AWS and Mr. Tibbits was president of Student Council.

The announcements of the service organizations were given after the invocation by the Rev. James Trautwein, Vicar of St. John's Episcopal Church.

The senior members of Sic Sic doffed their masks and coveralls. Joe McNamara and Lynn Yackee were fourth-year members of the secret spirit society which works in the wee hours of the morning placing their optimistic signs on buildings, posts, and trees.

Commencement 1962 — Ambitions

Fulfilled; Careers Begun

The long-awaited weekend of June 1, 1962, had arrived and the campus was turned over to 718 seniors. The object of their anticipation—718 diplomas. Their record of achievement—four years of successful academic study. Friday, with the official flag raising on the Mall, the campus became the exclusive property of the Class of '62. That noon, the seniors and their guests were honored at the Senior Luncheon. In the evening, and for the last time as students, the seniors danced in the Grand Ballroom to the music of Peter Palmer at the Commencement Cotillion, while Bobby Haskins played for his classmates in the Carnation Room. Saturday evening, parents had an opportunity to meet the University faculty at the President's Reception. During the entire weekend, senior art majors exhibited their work in the Art Building. Late Saturday night, the seniors held a candlelight serenade in Founders Quadrangle for their most enthusiastic supporters, their parents. As they sang, the soon-to-be-graduated seniors looked forward to the next day and biggest event of the weekend and their college careers—Commencement.

Commencement, the end of an indispensable four years of study and the beginning of its application, began Sunday afternoon, June 3, with a procession into Memorial Hall. Dr. Buell G. Gallagher, president of the College of the City of New York, discussed the role of "The Educated Citizen" in his address to the 1962 graduates. Honored guest was the president of the College of Wooster, Dr. Howard Foster Lowry, who was presented with the degree of Doctor of Humane Letters. Many graduates received grants and scholarships for advanced study at universities throughout the United States, while others received special recognition for their scholastic achievements. The 718 graduates then filed across the platform to receive the tangible evidence of alumni status.

To Retire After 27 Years Of Service To BGSU

It might have been a football game on a rainy day, a lecture in the Union, or a campus dance. But whatever the event, students were sure to find attending Dr. Ralph G. Harshman, president of Bowling Green State University since September, 1961, and a major contributor to the growth of the University for more than a quarter of a century.

President Harshman's friendliness and concern for the student body have earned him the admiration of the entire University community.

After 24 years of administrative leadership, Dr. Harshman stepped down from his position as vice president in 1960 to devote full time to teaching in the college which he helped establish and develop—Business Administration.

As a climax to his dedication to BGSU, Dr. Harshman was called upon two years ago to assume the University's position of greatest responsibility during a crucial period in Bowling Green's history.

Dr. Harshman became the first BGSU president to rise from faculty ranks of the University and the first to have served under all four presidents who preceded him.

Arriving on the campus shortly after Bowling Green became a university, Dr. Harshman introduced the present curricula (except journalism) of the College of Business Administration and served as its first dean from 1937 to 1951. He guided its growth from 51 students in 1937 to its peak of 1,400 after World War II.

As dean of administration from 1951, as vice president from 1955 to 1960, and as president the past two years, Dr. Harshman was associated with the progress of BGSU during the period of its greatest expansion. He has always kept in sight the important role of the teacher in the development of a strong academic institution of higher learning.

An active supporter of the athletic fortunes of the University, Dr. Harshman served for 15 years as chairman of the Athletic Committee. During his service, BGSU joined the Mid-American Conference and the National Collegiate Athletic Association and rose to classification as a major university team. He also served as president and vice president of the MAC.

First picture of Dr. Harshman as dean of the College of Business Administration appeared in the opening pages of the 1938 KEY.

Career Varied

Dr. Harshman served as chairman of the President's Committee on Fraternities and was instrumental in arranging for the national affiliation of a majority of fraternities now on the campus. He served on the Honorary Degree Committee from its inception, as well as the Committee on Honors and Awards. He directed the Summer School for three years.

Born on a Hancock County farm in 1893, President Harshman received his early education in a one-room school and his secondary education in a township high school. After teaching for a year, he entered Ohio Northern University and received his bachelor's degree in 1917. He later earned his master's and doctor's degrees at Ohio State.

Before joining the staff of Bowling Green, he taught at Mount Union College and served as educational director of McCaskey Register Co., Alliance, and director of sales training of the Standard Register Co., Dayton.

Dr. and Mrs. Harshman have a daughter, Jean, the wife of Navy Commander Hugh Nott, and two granddaughters.

The consensus of University faculty and staff is that, with President Harshman's retirement, Bowling Green will lose one of its most able educators in its history. The foundation he helped construct will long last.

Behind administrator's desk, Dr. Harshman posed for this picture in the 1943 KEY when he was serving as business administration dean.

James A. Rhodes, Governor of Ohio.

Citizens Of Ohio Elected Rhodes Governor

JAMES A. RHODES was elected to the office of Governor on November 6, 1962, by the largest majority ever received by a gubernatorial candidate in Ohio. Immediately preceding his election as Governor, Mr. Rhodes served three terms as auditor of state. Elected mayor of Columbus in 1943, Mr. Rhodes, at 34 years, was the youngest mayor of any metropolitan city in the United States. In 1948, he represented the United States at the Olympic Games in London, England, and was one of the founders of the Pan-American Games. Governor Rhodes won recognition for his work as state chairman of the Cancer Crusade in 1959, and in 1962 devoted his talents to fund-raising efforts for crippled adults and children as chairman of the Easter Seal Campaign. Governor Rhodes' diversified career includes the co-authoring of several historical books. With the approval of the State Senate, Governor Rhodes appoints the members of the Board of Trustees.

Board of Trustees Formulated General Policy

This year the Board of Trustees approved the plans, specifications, and an estimate of the cost for a new men's residence center, proposed to be one of the most advanced designs for housing units in the country. Four separate dormitories, each housing 350 students, are included in the plans. Completion date for the center is September, 1964.

The Board is composed of seven individuals from various professions who administer the University on broad policy matters. Each member of the Board is appointed by the governor, approved by the State Senate, and serves a seven-year term of office. The authority for the operation of the University is divested in the Board of Trustees who formulate general policies to be carried out by the president. The Board passes judgment on presidential decisions and approves the recommendations of the administration.

Serving the University as vice president since 1961, Dr. Kenneth H. McFall is chairman of the faculty committee that established the University guidance and counseling center and the reading, speech, and psychology clinics. Dr. McFall also led the development of the graduate program in guidance and counseling.

Ervin J. Kreischer, treasurer and business manager, has served in that position for over a quarter of a century. A graduate of the University in 1930, Mr. Kreischer was a teacher in the Bowling Green and Fostoria school systems before joining the administrative staff in 1937.

The Public, The University, The Future-- All Benefited

F. Eugene Beatty, Director of Buildings and Facilities, has served the University for the past 21 years. He has held various offices, including that of assistant to the president.

Veteran faculty member, Dr. Paul F. Leedy, a member of the University faculty since 1938, served as Director of the Library and Chairman of the Department of Library Science before becoming Provost in 1961.

Dean of Students, Dr. Donnel V. Smith, a distinguished alumnus of the University in the field of higher education, and former President of New York State Teachers College, is responsible for the supervision of student life.

James E. Hof, alumnus and former instructor in the Speech Department, is the Director of Alumni Affairs. Prior to assuming the Alumni Post in 1960, Mr. Hof was Admissions officer for the University.

From The Competence Of The Administration

Farrar M. Cobb, manager of the University Union, is the former director of the famous officers club of Fort Bragg, North Carolina, where noted official visitors to this country frequently are entertained.

Director of University Relations, Edward E. Rhine, is responsible for the areas of Publications and News and Photography Services. Mr. Rhine is a former member of the Ohio University administrative staff.

Alumni of the College of Business Administration Returned to Recognize 25 Years of Activity

Providing an education for the 1179 students who were interested in the field of business or journalism as a career, the College of Business Administration also provided a program of extra-curricular activity for the students.

Cobus Hour, a weekly Wednesday afternoon discussion period of direct concern to business students, revolved around talks by both University professors and outside speakers. This year's Alumni Day, the return of alumni for the college's twenty-fifth anniversary, marked the beginning of another Business Administration tradition. More than 100 alumni returned for the occasion, some having received their degrees in 1939.

Already having granted over 2600 degrees to students, the college offers both a Bachelor of Science degree in journalism and in administration. Courses of study leading to those degrees include the departments of accounting, business administration, business education, economics, geography, military and air science, and the school of journalism.

Rows and rows of endless numbers, complicated computers, and diversified digits are a familiar sight to the student who chooses to follow the Business Administration program.

Original members of the college's faculty, Gilbert Cooke and Lewis Manhart, are recognized by Deans William Schmeltz and John Davidson.

College of Education Saw Increased Enrollment, Department Added

Change has marked this year's program for the College of Education. Dr. William Harrington stepped into the office of acting dean following Dean John E. Gee's resignation last spring, and both David Elsass and Dr. Vergil K. Ort have served the students as assistant deans. German was added to the college's list of seven departmental majors, and student enrollment, revealing an eleven and a half per cent increase, reached a new high this year.

Statistics showed that of the total 3,910 students in the college, one out of every three had a major in elementary education, and, though the college was made up of approximately the same number of men and women, women definitely outnumbered the men in this department.

In an attempt to locate the whereabouts and professions of the alumni of the college, the deans, this year, conducted a survey which they hope will enable them to get a better view of the use of degrees after graduation.

Diversified Thinking Marked The Activities Of The Liberal Arts College

HEADED BY DEAN Emerson C. Shuck and Assistant Dean H. Glendon Steele, the College of Liberal Arts sponsored many extracurricular activities for all Bowling Green State University students. Curbstone, a weekly discussion period held in the University Union, and numerous outside lecturers provided a full and varied schedule for the school year. The colleges' international studies major, one of a total of twenty-four major fields available to the students, recently has been added to the curriculum. This new program consists of four to five years of study with no major or minor in any one department. Although not at all specialized, it offers a wide-ranged field of education for all students interested in a career in international affairs. However, the bachelor of arts, bachelor of science, and bachelor of fine arts degrees all require similar but varied group requirements in humanities, sciences, mathematics, social studies, and foreign languages.

Graduate School Increased Enrollment, Introduced American Studies, Granted Ph.D. Degrees

Approximately 500 students, possessing the 2.5 accumulative grade average necessary for application, enrolled in the University's Graduate School Program this year. The 1962-63 school semesters revealed an increase of forty-eight per cent over the Graduate enrollment figures for last year, with a definite tendency for higher enrollment in the department areas of English, mathematics, psychology, and speech.

Offering a total of eighteen areas of specialization during both the regular academic year and summer sessions, the University Graduate School includes major fields of study ranging from art to speech. However, this year the Graduate School introduced a new American Studies program to its present curriculum, requiring two years of study. The 1962-63 school year held another first for BG's Graduate School as it had the honor of granting its first two Doctor of Philosophy degrees, both in the field of English.

Lloyd A. Helms, Dean of the Graduate School since 1955, has witnessed a forty-eight per cent increase in enrollment.

Branch Schools Served Off-Campus Students

Bowling Green State University operates branches in Fostoria, Bryan, Fremont, and Sandusky. The first two years of study in the Colleges of Liberal Arts, Education, and Business Administration are offered. Instruction is supervised by members of the regular academic staff of the University. Persons living in or near these communities may begin their college work at a branch, transferring to the main campus or to some other accredited college or university to complete the courses required for a degree. Branch instruction is also available to persons who do not plan to earn a college degree, but desire more education, and to college graduates who wish to qualify for an elementary school teaching certificate.

Twice each year, men are tapped into Omicron Delta Kappa, a group which recognizes and encourages leadership among male students on campus. These men have been active in scholarship, publications, athletics, and the arts. ODK promotes and discusses new ideas which then are conveyed to appropriate student or administrative bodies for further consideration. Selected as "Faculty Man of the Year" by ODK was Dr. Melvin Hyman, a specialist in the fields of speech and therapy. A leadership conference is held annually, to which outstanding students and faculty members are invited.

The highest honor any Bowling Green woman can receive is membership in Cap and Gown leadership honorary. To qualify, achievement in the areas of leadership, service, personality, character, and scholarship must be outstanding. New members are tapped secretly during the night while the campus is at rest, and are announced during the Honors Day program in May. During Homecoming each year, a breakfast is given for Cap and Gown alumnae by the current members. This year, Sandra Scott held the position of president. Student Body Organization Coordinated Campus Activities

Are you looking for someone to organize a pep rally on campus? Or how about conducting an election campaign? If you are interested in either one, go to a representative of the Spirit and Traditions Board or the Elections Board. These student-run committees are only two of eight boards in the complex called the Student Body Organization. Sixty-five students are the components of three divisions: Student Council, Cabinet, and Court. Through the Council, the University student has an opportunity to express his complaints, voice his opinion, and encourage legislation to be passed which might benefit him and his friends. Under the guidance of the Cabinet, the Student Body boards cover the various areas that deal with student relationships and events.

This year, the Charities Board busied itself with its popular Ugly Man Contest and even contemplated an Ugly Girl Contest, but decided against it. Leadership and Service sifted through mounds of applications to find the right people for the right committees, while Orientation held an information night for the freshmen.

Costing votes and pennies during the Ugly Man Contest, campus coeds showed that the Ugly Man can be very popular.

Student Governors Aided In Regulation Of Student Affairs

With the introduction of "an 'Open Door' policy . . . designed to give the students an opportunity to exchange their suggestions and problems . . .," the student government came under the direction of the newly-elected officers late last spring. By way of this policy, a greater number of bills were passed and suggestions made.

One of the most important bills passed was an amendment to lower the grade requirements for student body positions from a 3.0 accumulative grade average to 2.7, which gave fifteen per cent more of the students an opportunity to participate in government.

Recommendations were sent to the University newspaper, suggesting that the paper go on a daily-issue basis. The bill to place three freshman representatives on the council was also passed and sent to the President for his ratification. All bills will go into effect next fall.

Faces of Student Council members reflect varying opinions, as the members debate, argue, or agree on a point.

Short, D. Feasby, L. Snyder, E. Wilson, S. Markwood, G. Winter, R. Dimling, W. Calhoun, R. Sprague, Dean Wallace Taylor, C. Eberly, B. Fearnside, Dean Donnal Smith, J. Lucas, Dean Florence Currier.

Student Cabinet: Steve Markwood, Orientation; Dianna Kellogg, Spirit and Traditions; Dale Rathman, Elections; Marilyn Van Aman, Charities; Michael Sanders, Leadership and Service; David Hunger, president; John Gaertner, chairman; Melinda Mathews, secretary; Robert Chis, treasurer; Eugene Wilson, coordinator of student activities; Ann Schneider, communications.

David Hunger, president of the student body, initiated his "Open Door" policy during the spring elections in 1962.

A student-run court bill caused consternation for many on the council, when it was presented in February. The bill would have established a men's court to try all cases that would be referred to the dean of men. The bill was tabled after a heated debate over the court's powers and functions. The Spring Weekend float parade was abolished by the council, since twenty of the twenty-nine fraternities and sororities were opposed to its continuation.

Suggestion boxes and a composite picture of the members of the council and cabinet were placed in the residence halls to facilitate communications between the government and student body. Also, to help carry out the "Open Door" policy, discussion meetings were held periodically, along with the regular open council meetings.

Association Of Women Students

The Association of Women Students made their purpose known to entering freshmen women, and their revisions familiar to upper class coeds, through the valuable handbook which they published and distributed in September. The ways of AWS also became quite familiar to the men on campus this year when the question of women's hours was debated and finally resolved by extending sophomore's hours to 11:00 p.m. on week nights, and giving all women 1:00 a.m. permissions on weekends (on a one semester trial basis) and 11:00's on Sunday nights. Another addition to the AWS program this year was a style show primarily for the purpose of familiarizing freshman women with the styles in campus attire; the Best Dressed Girl Contest was also an AWS first. However, tradition did not go neglected at the expense of the new, and AWS once again held its Big Sis-Little Sis Picnic, the Christmas Formal—"Winterland by Night", May Sing, and the mid-winter Leadership Banquet honoring the women leaders on campus. At this time, the AWS Scholarship Award, created from the funds collected at Penny Night, was presented to Joyce Bednar and Marva Jordan, foreign student from Panama.

Panhellenic Council

The local organization of National Panhellenic Council is composed of the thirteen national social sororities represented on campus. Three delegates from each house meet once a week to establish rush rules and promote co-operation among the sororities. Continued this year was an executive night when girls holding the same office in each sorority met at one of the houses for dinner and a meeting afterwards. Exchange brunches and after-hours parties were included in inter-sorority activities. A philanthropic project initiated this year was a visit once a week to the Old Folk's Home. Sororities took turns sending two representatives from three sororities at a time to entertain, give shampoos, write letters, and do anything else to help. This year rush counselors consisted of one from each house rather than having the executive Council act as rush advisors as in previous years. A committee published the annual Rush Handbook.

Interfraternity Council

"Strength through Unity", the motto of the Interfraternity Council, represents a cooperative effort of all the fraternities to strengthen and perpetuate the Greek system on the campus. Along with establishing basic academic criteria for fraternity membership, the Council plans and conducts the formal rush programs each year. This year the IFC conducted informal information sessions in the freshman dorms, printed a fraternity handbook for all interested men, established hours for evening fraternity smokers, and sponsored an all Greek event for freshman men. The council's committees also served in such areas as co-operative food buying, publicity, and social policy determination. The Interfraternity Council has the authority to place a fraternity on warning for academic deficiency, while the autonomous Judicial Board serves to alleviate problems in other areas of fraternity life. This year the board found Alpha Tau Omega fraternity guilty of violating the Council's constitution, and members of Pi Kappa Alpha fraternity guilty of disorderly conduct.

Eight thousand photographs, a million words, and several thousand people were involved in the construction of this documented history of the University, the KEY. Some ideas were the result of months or even years of consideration. Some were the mushrooms of editorial convention tips. Some were spur of the moment creations. Most of them never saw the light of day. The remaining ideas culminated in the contents of this 42nd volume of the KEY along with the "blood, sweat, and tears" that occupied many a Friday night.

Traveling KEY Staff Attended ACP Workshop, Convention

Travel was the key word for many of the members on the staff this year. Early last summer, Editor Harold Miller and Managing Editor Nancy Iden attended the University of Minnesota for a yearbook workshop, sponsored by the Associated College Press for college editors and high school advisors. Participants from all parts of the nation exchanged ideas and criticisms while plans were made for the coming year.

In November, the editorial staff, with the editors of the B-G News, attended the ACP National Convention held at the Sheraton-Cadillac Hotel in Detroit. Business Manager Joe Tosh led a panel discussion on yearbook sales. Among members of ACP, Bowling Green ranked first in yearbook sales (on a voluntary purchase basis).

B-G News

The production of a newspaper can be described as exciting, dull, creative, routine, worthwhile to its staff, nothing but harassment, or by any number of conflicting adjectives. But at the same time, a newspaper office, such as The B-G News, holds a certain attraction for its staff members that keeps them coming in to work, no matter how much they might grumble or how much studying they have to do. Printer's ink seeps into their blood and they dream about headlines at night, but "the office" is the first place they visit after vacations, and the last place they stop before going home.

The results of the hours spent in the office by the editors, reporters, and photographers are published bi-weekly in a newspaper known around campus as The Bubble-Gum News, and are often the subject of animated debates and arguments. Despite the jibes and derisions freely tossed around about the NEWS, its staff continues to cover campus events, reporting the news as it sees it, to keep students, faculty, and administration informed of the activities of the various campus groups and organizations.

WBGU

WBGU, the student operated FM radio station, has a power output of 1,000 watts, and broadcasts Monday thru Saturday, on the air from four to eight p. m., the station offered listeners a wide variety of musical programs. Twice a month special events were brought to the campus by the UAO committee. The National Association Education Broadcasters sponsored opera and other music shows transmitted by WBGU. The radio workshop, composed entirely of students, broadcast the plays, "Oedipus Rex", and "Cyrano de Bergerac."

Special features of the station included no commercials or announcements. Also all home football games were aired, and students created and presented programs including "Notes on Music" by Sandra Sharp, and the "Diversity Program." Punctually at 5 p.m., the Evening News, prepared by the Department of Journalism, was given. Sunday broadcasts included faculty recitals, and special programs, such as The University Chorus' Christmas concert.

Debate

Resolved: "That the United States should not tolerate the continued existence of the Castro Regime in Cuba." This was the topic debated last fall by the "Tories" of Oxford University and the "Rebels" of Bowling Green. In an exciting display of argumentation, the BG affirmative team emphasized the continued military threat in Cuba and also stated that Cuba is a base for the infiltration of the southern hemisphere. The Oxford negative team answered the affirmative charge with the theory that the United States has no need and no right to intervene in Cuban affairs. The opinion of the negative was that Cuba has the right to make military alliances with any country. The debate was filled with witticisms coming from both teams and the winning side was decided only in the minds of the audience. In the Bradley University Speech Tournament held in November, the University's varsity debaters nearly doubled their 1961 performance by winning seven debates out of a possible ten. One "Superior" and four "Excellent" ratings were also won by BG students in individual speaking events.

MUSIC AND FINE ARTS

Band Marched For Victory, Traveled For Concerts

Cheers rose from the football stadium as the University Marching Band entered the field, bringing spirit and color to the pre-game and halftime activities. Opening at the first game of the season, the Band was assisted by visiting jazz drummer, Barret Deems. "Forty Years of Broadway" was the theme at the Homecoming halftime. Precision in formation, illustrated by the big "OKLA" representing

"Oklahoma," was achieved after long hours of practice.

Activities of the University Symphonic Band included two campus concerts and travel to the All Ohio Inter-Collegiate Band Concert. In March, the Band toured the north central states, stopping in Minnesota to participate in the National Music Education Convention. The Band plans to record an album, "Songs of Mid-America."

Collegiate Chorale

In February, the Collegiate Chorale toured high schools and churches of the Northwestern Ohio and Eastern Indiana area. The tour was completed with an appearance at Maumee High School and a home concert in the Main Auditorium. The Collegiate Chorale and the A Cappella Choir combined with the Lima Symphony Orchestra in the love story, "Carmina Burana," Carl Orff's oratorio. A group of twenty members participated with the Toledo Symphony Orchestra in the presentation of Vaughn William's "Flos Campi" at the Peristyle, a Roman-type arena auditorium in Toledo. Individual members of the Chorale distinguished themselves as soloists. All the soloists for the "Messiah" were from the Chorale and seven members served as soloists in the spring opera "Die Fledermaus." Other activities included singing at the Homecoming Alumni Luncheon in the Grand Ballroom and publishing the Alumni Newsletter, "Choir Crier." Ed Moore, a member of the Chorale, served as president of chorale activities.

A Cappella Choir

The Christmas season brought the A Cappella Choir's participation in Handel's "Messiah" along with the Collegiate Chorale, University Chorus, and the University Symphony Orchestra. Over semester breaks the Choir toured Ohio, giving concerts at high schools and churches. Sponsored by various civic organizations, such as Kiwanis, Rotary, and the Elks, members were guests in people's homes as they toured. Upon returning to campus, the Choir gave their touring concert of thirteen selections to a home audience in the Grand Ballroom. Slanted for the spring agenda were two presentations jointly with the Lima Symphony Orchestra and the Collegiate Chorale in Carl Orff's "Carmina Burma". One production was on campus and the Choir traveled to Lima, Ohio, for the other. Spring also brought a concert together with the Collegiate Chorale and the University Orchestra. Some members also participated in the spring presentation of Strauss's "Die Fledermaus."

Symphony Orchestra

This year the activities of the University Symphony Orchestra consisted of concerts, tours, and clinics. At two of its concerts, the program presented faculty soloists. Harvey Wedeen interpreted Mozart's Piano Concerto No. 23, and at the second, a soloist sang Hovhanness's "Psalm and Fugue." Two concerts were given by the University Chamber Orchestra, made up of highly selected students from the symphony orchestra. The first concert featured a student soloist while faculty soloists participated in the second concert. Other activities of the orchestra included a children's concert late in April and a "pops" concert in March. The group also sponsored the Northwestern Ohio Reading Clinic Orchestra for high schools. They accompanied the Chorus in the pre-Christmas presentation of Handel's "Messiah," and combined with the Department of Speech in the production of Strauss's "Die Fledermaus" in May.

Theater Season Included Experimental Program

Joe E. Brown Theatre and the Main Auditorium once again housed the major campus productions for the 1962-63 theatre season. "A Thurber Carnival," a captivating revue of American life, was first on the agenda and was performed during October in the Main Auditorium. Robert Penn Warren's "All the King's Men," a provocative portrait of contemporary politicians, filled the bill for December. Other major productions presented for a three day run included Shakespeare's "Romeo and Juliet," Clifford Odets' "Golden Boy," and Johann Strauss' "Die Fledermaus."

BG's experimental theatre program was carried out in the Joe E. Brown Theatre. The first presentation was Elmer Rice's expressionistic fantasy "The Adding Machine." Original One Acts, bills featuring premiere performances of plays written by members of Dramatic Theory and Playwriting, and Capek's "The Insect Comedy" completed the program.

INTEREST GROUPS

Union Activities Organizations

A new policy has been added to the varied program of the Union Activities Organization for this school year. A "flying-squad", consisting of an unlimited amount of interested students, worked in conjunction with the regular committee of seven in each of the twenty-five committee areas. By offering "flying-squad" members the opportunity to work not only on one specified committee area, but on any of the areas subdivided under the departments of entertainment, public information, fine arts, social, recreation, house, and personnel, the UAO gave the inquisitive student a chance to see the diversified mechanics of the organization in operation.

Serving as the hub of student activities on campus, the UAO once again sponsored the Lecture Series, the Artist Series, and the Special Events Series which spotlighted Peter, Paul and Mary, and the Four Freshmen.

Alpha Phi Omega

An earnest desire to render service to others, and a willingness to live and act by the principles of the Boy Scout Oath are the basic requirements for membership in Alpha Phi Omega. No restrictions are made as to the races, colors, or creeds of prospective brothers. The membership of Alpha Phi Omega includes men who are independent, who are members of social fraternities, and who are members of honorary fraternities—a true cross section of college life. As a national service honorary fraternity, Alpha Phi Omega's membership roles are open to regularly enrolled male students with satisfactory grade averages. Some of the organization's services this year included the support of the Student Loan Foundation, the publicity for the Student Charities Drive, the conducting of campus tours, and the stadium decorations at the Homecoming football game. Because of Alpha Phi Omega's sponsorship of the Blood Bank, blood is available to all BG students free of charge.

Sponsorship of the campus Blood Bank program is one service project carried out by Alpha Phi Omega.

United Christian Fellowship

Established locally in 1915, the United Christian Fellowship is an inter-denominational campus ministry whose program includes worship, study, fellowship and service. In an attempt to act responsibly for their ministry within the academic community, the local churches found it necessary to provide for this larger expression of their witness at BGSU. The agencies and denominations which sponsor UCF are American Baptist, Disciples of Christ, Evangelical United Brethren, Methodist, Protestant Episcopal, United Church of Christ, United Presbyterian, YMCA, and YWCA.

As a part of community service, UCF supports a summer "work camp" for Spanish speaking migrant workers and their families.

In conjunction with the AFROTC Orientation Program, the fifty-piece Wright Patterson Air Force Band appeared at the University. The band also gave performances in six other states.

Air Force Experienced Expansion; Angel Flight Organized; Minutemen Rated First

Increasing to 460 cadets, the Air Force ROTC corps was the largest in BGSU history. This expansion forced the staff to be enlarged to four officers, under the direction of Major Warren E. Peters, professor of Air Science. Under minimal supervision of the major and his staff, cadet officers and non-commissioned officers were given the authority and responsibility to plan, organize, and operate the cadet corps. Its purpose is to motivate and prepare cadets to serve as future officers in the Air Force Reserve.

Organized this year was the Angel Flight, a group of women students interested in air force activities.

They provided a welcome addition to the corps. The Arnold Air Society, a national honorary society, sponsored the Angel Flight, and its Minuteman Squadron was rated number one in its area. Precision teamwork typified the Valkeries Drill Team, and the Drum and Bugle Corps set the tempo at common hour. For those cadets who possessed vocal talent, the AFROTC Chorus welcomed their membership.

The Corps marched in both the President's review and Armed Forces Parade this year, and directed plans for the Military Ball, highlight of the year for both army and air force cadets.

Scholarship and leadership are two important attributes which the Arnold Air Society is trying to encourage. The group discusses corps problems, holds fund raising projects, and supervises the Angel flight.

Arnold Air Society

Without a doubt, the creation of the Angel flight this year was most successful for the corps. Performing during half-time at basketball games was only one of the means by which the Angels furthered interest for the Air Force.

AFROTC Drum And Bugle Corps

The exuberant musical sounds which issued forth from the barrage of trumpets and drums characterized the Drum and Bugle Corps, an auxiliary of the Air Force Corps. Under the direction of Cadet Lt. Ken Rider, the group was the leading flight at all Common Hours, and provided the military beat necessary for precision marching by the corps. Another objective was to set a good example for the Air Force ROTC department by performing adequately before the student body, especially at football and basketball games.

350 Army Cadets Trained For Commissions; PR's Ranked In The Top Ten Teams

Directing the Army ROTC corps was Lt. Colonel William Scruggs. The year was marred by the unfortunate death of Major Lorin Q. Hardesty this past fall. The Department of Military Science, through an intensive program of ROTC instruction and guidance, headed by Colonel Scruggs and his staff, prepared selected students for a commission as second lieutenants in the United States Army Reserve.

Three hundred and fifty cadets, of which 100 were advanced, and 250 basic, comprised the corps. Many of these cadets, besides attending class, participated in the extra-curricular activities sponsored by the corps, and these included the band, which not only provided the marching music at common hour, but helped the cause at all home basketball games by playing popular handclapping tunes. The Pershing Rifles, a national honorary military society, ranked among the top ten teams for the past three years, competed with drill teams across the country for national honors. A rifle team offered to those cadets who were skilled in marksmanship a chance for recognition by competition with other schools, and started this year was the anti-gorilla group, a counter-insurgency team which trains its members for special assignments when later commissioned. The Military Ball was social highlight for cadets.

Falcons Successfully Defend Mid-American Championship

The Fighting Falcons successfully defended their Mid-American Conference crown, their fourth title in seven years, and Coach Doyt Perry, collegiate football's winningest tutor, extended his seven-year record as head mentor at Bowling Green to 60-8-5, in a season which might best be remembered by home fans as the year of the "Great Rains."

Labeled the "Great Opportunists" by rival coaching staffs and newspapers, Bowling Green made philosophers out of "experts" who chose the Falcons in pre-season grid polls to repeat as MAC champions as they rolled to a 7-1-1 mark. The Falcon's lone setback was a 23-7 loss to once-defeated West Texas State, one of the nation's top offensive teams.

The familiar adage, "To the victor go the spoils," became in a sense a reality for the Falcons this season as runner-up Ohio University was selected to participate in the Sun Bowl against West Texas and third place Miami received a bid from the Tangerine Bowl. The fact that the Mid-American Conference will not be represented by its champion in a post-season encounter illustrates the over-all balance apparent throughout the season.

Nineteen members of the 1962 championship squad will be missing from the Falcon grid scene next fall. During their three years of varsity competition Bowling Green compiled a 23-4-1 mark, better than a .850 winning percentage, enroute to two MAC titles. Last season the Falcons were among the top 10 teams in the country both offensively and defensively.

Bowling Green's Roger Reynolds hurdles Marshall's front wall for small gain in 48-6 season-opening triumph.

For the second consecutive season the Falcons edged Ohio University 7-6 to gain undisputed possession of the Mid-American Conference title before 5,000 chilled fans.

The accomplishments of two "firsts" enabled Asa Elsea and company to make history repeat itself. Entering the championship game the invading Bobcats had not allowed a MAC opponent to cross its goal and Ohio's Jim McKee, one of the nation's top collegiate kickers, had not had a PAT attempt blocked all season. The Falcons accomplished both to set the scene for Asa Elsea's game-winning kick.

Bowling Green's bid for an undefeated season came to an abrupt halt as offensively-potent West Texas romped to a 23-7 win. Led by John Logan, the 1962 NCAA scoring champion, and much-publicized Pete Pedro, one of the top ground-gainers in the nation, the Buffaloes avenged last year's 28-6 setback administered by the Falcons. The loss was only the second non-conference defeat for Coach Doyt Perry in twenty-three encounters. Perry coached teams were undefeated in twenty-one non-conference contests before last year's 36-6 loss to Fresno State.

For the second straight season, Bowling Green dominated team and individual Mid-American Conference final statistics. Team-wise, the Falcons finished on top of the MAC offensively and defensively with averages of 311.2 yards and 193.8 yards, respectively.

Falcon halfbacks Don Lisbon and Jay Cunningham, former Youngstown South teammates, shared the league scoring title with 36 points. Bowling Green's sophomore punting specialist, Norm Limpert, averaged 38 yards to lead MAC kickers.

Bowling Green placed four players on the all-MAC first team including tackle Bob Reynolds, guard Gary Sherman, center Ed Bettridge, and Lisbon. Asa Elsea, Falcon place-kicking specialist, received special recognition. Elsea converted 68 extra points in 74 attempts during his three-year career.

Reynolds, Sherman, Lisbon, and Cunningham were named on Miami University's all-opponent first team. Reynolds, a second-round draft choice of the St. Louis Cardinals, and Lisbon, a San Francisco Forty-Niner draft choice, received all-American honorable-mention.

High-scoring junior guard Howard Komives contributed 25 points in a losing cause in 70-67 Illinois defeat.

Falcons Defeat Notre Dame; Fall To Illini, Miss. State

Coach Harold "Andy" Anderson labeled the 1962-63 Bowling Green basketball team "My greatest team" in a career that spanned 28 years of collegiate coaching. When the Falcons defeated Notre Dame 77-72 they became the first Bowling Green representative to win a NCAA contest.

The Mid-American Conference titlests led all the way as honorable mention all-American Howard "Butch" Komives meshed a-tournament high of 34 points including 14 straight charity tosses and all-American Nate Thurmond pulled in a game-leading total of 20 rebounds. Earlier in the season, Bowling Green administered the Fighting Irish' worst defeat with a 67-58 setback. No MAC team has ever recorded more than one NCAA victory.

All-American Nate Thurmond grabbed 20 rebounds to outclass Notre Dame's 6'9" Walt Sahn, NCAA's fourth top rebounder, in 77-72 tournament win over the fighting Irish at Evanston.

Big Ten representative Illinois ruined the Falcon's hopes for a position in the NCAA semifinals at Louisville as the Illini rallied from a 11-point deficit to defeat Bowling Green 70-67. Komives again led all scorers with 25 points although slowed with a groin injury. In the consolation game, which proved to be a necessity rather than an effort, a disheartened Falcon delegation fell to fifth-ranked Mississippi State 65-60. Thurmond, with 31 rebounds, nearly erased a NCAA record set by the Boston Celtic's Bill Russell.

Both Komives and Thurmond were named to the Mid-east all-tournament first team along with Loyola's Jerry Harkness, Illinois's Dave Downey.

Falcons Captured MAC Title After Tight Race At End

Nationally-ranked Bowling Green captured its second consecutive MAC title and third in five years in the tightest conference race in MAC history. The Falcons were forced to tie a school record of seven straight MAC victories to annex the crown after upsets by Ohio University, Toledo and Miami nearly eliminated the heavily-favored defending champions . . . nearly, that is. Early performances against Miami, 86-36, and Western Michigan, 70-60, gave every indication of a title run-a-way until Ohio University shocked the Falcons 61-56 in Bowling Green's only defeat of the season in Anderson Arena. Toledo followed the Bobcat's performance with a 60-55 upset and Miami, fifty point victims earlier in the season, added, what were considered to be, the "finishing touches."

Highlight of the MAC season was a record-breaking 114-86 win over hapless Marshall University. The win established school records for most points in MAC and all games, most field goals (44), most points for both teams in MAC and all games, and most points by a team in Memorial Hall. Nate Thurmond led the Mid-American Conference in rebounding for the third consecutive year with a 14.8 average and was runner-up to Manny Newsome of Western Michigan in MAC individual scoring with 253 points and a 21.1 average.

Nate Thurmond grabbed 588 rebounds in 36-game MAC career to win three individual rebounding titles.

All-MAC Howard Komives was team's leading scorer with 20.2 average and fourth leading MAC scorer.

Anderson Retires After 30 Years Of Dedication

"After 30 years of coaching, I feel that because of my health and family it is time to relinquish this position." With these words ended one of the most illustrious collegiate coaching careers in the era of modern basketball. In 28 years of collegiate coaching, Coach Harold Anderson has acquired an outstanding 504-226 record to become the sixth major college coach to win 500 games. In twenty years at Bowling Green, Anderson has compiled a 362-185 record including three MAC titles. Anderson's .690 winning percentage ranks fifth in all-time collegiate coaching behind such coaching greats as Adolph Rupp of Kentucky, Ed Diddle of Western Kentucky and Branch McCracken of Indiana. At Bowling Green, Anderson has taken six teams to the National Invitational Tournament and three to the National Collegiate Athletic Association tournament. During his coaching career ten all-Americans, including such Bowling Green greats as Al Bianchi, Jimmy Darrow and Nate Thurmond, were developed by his guidance. In his last year of collegiate coaching, Anderson served as president of the National Association of Basketball Coaches.

Although he will remain at Bowling Green as athletic director, a "golden" era has ended.

Swimmers Record First Losing Season In 16 Year Dynasty

Near the beginning of the season, Coach Sam Cooper stated, "If we keep improving, we could become one of the best swim teams in Bowling Green's history." Not even the most pessimistic observer would have imagined that, instead, the 1962-63 Falcon swimming squad would close the season with a 9-10 record to become Cooper's first losing team. Prior to this season, Bowling Green teams had recorded 16 consecutive winning seasons under Cooper's direction, compiling one of the nation's finest winning percentages with 151 wins against 39 losses and one tie.

Injuries played a vital role in Bowling Green's disappointing performance as four key men missed considerable action. Injured were co-captain Howard Comstock, the 1961 MAC backstroke champion; Marty Schenk, 1962 MAC butterfly champion; Dan Weller, sophomore butterfly artist; and Bud Stout, top 1962 freshman squad sprinter.

Undefeated Western Michigan copped the Mid-American crown which Bowling Green failed to defend with 131 points to runner up Miami's 86. The Falcon's, winner of six championships in the past eight years, finished fourth

Ineligibility, Injuries Hurt Wrestlers; Compile 4-4-2 Record

Ineligibilities and injuries dealt a crippling blow to a promising Falcon wrestling team as Bowling Green recorded its worst dual-meet performance since the 1951-55 season with a 4-4-2 mark. Last year's sophomore-laden team compiled a surprising 6-1 dual-meet record. Bowling Green captured three third places and one fourth place to finish in a fifth place tie with Western Michigan in the Mid-American Conference championships held at Bowling Green. Bob Maurer, 130 pound division, and letterman Dick Reinhardt, 137 pound division, were the most successful Falcon grapplers with 5-3 marks. Senior letterman Bill Murphy, ineligible the first semester, was undefeated in three matches. Best performances of the season were a 11-11 tie with unbeaten Ohio University and a 12-12 tie against undefeated Notre Dame. Bruce Ballard, the most successful grappling coach in Bowling Green history, has a 51-36-6 dual-meet record in nine years.

Binkley finished first in the Notre Dame Invitational with a time of 20:15 to establish a new Bowling Green varsity record, surpassing Mel Turner's 20:18 set in 1958.

Also contributing to the Falcon cause was sophomore Dale Cordova who placed first in two dual meets and was the top Falcon finisher in the MAC championships and NCAA.

Only powerful Central State and Wayne State could better Coach Mel Brodt's squad, the latter a two point win. Bowling Green finished third in the Mid American Conference and fourth in the All-Ohio Intercollegiate.

Bowling Green finished fifth in the post-season MAC championships with 8½ points and participated in the Ohio Relays.

The future looks bright, however, for Coach Mel Brodt. He can look forward to next year when members of the freshman team are eligible. The Falcon frosh had a 6-2 record, breaking eight freshman records and equalling two.

Dejected Redskins find little to cheer about during this double-header as the Falcons win two, 14-6 and 8-3.

Powerful Detroit Falls

A 3-2 upset over highly-regarded Detroit in the season finale was the highlight of a successful year for the 1962 Bowling Green baseball squad.

The Falcon-administered loss was only the second of the season for the Titans in 21 encounters. Earlier in the year Detroit edged the Falcons 10-7.

Tom Tietmeyer captured the Mid-American Conference batting title with a .581 average and was named in the All-MAC first team. His 38 hits, three home runs, and 28 runs batted in were team highs.

The diamondmen finished fourth in the conference and were 16-10, Coach Dick Young's best record in his three years as head baseball coach.

Linksters Finish 12-6

Sophomores Stu Hughes and Dick Ambrose led Bowling Green's 1962 golf aggregate to a surprising 12-6 win-loss record and a fourth place finish in the Mid-American Conference golf championship.

Ambrose fired 75-75-150 for individual runner-up laurels in the Ohio Intercollegiate while directing the Falcons to a fifth place finish among twenty competing colleges.

Leading the team in average were Hughes and Ambrose with 74.8 and 74.9 respectively. Chip Heyl compiled the best win percentage with a 11-4-1 mark. Hughes was 10-5.

Coach Forrest Creason gives last minute instructions to Falcon linksters Solanik and Rondall at BG course.

Helping the Falcon tennis squad to its second best record in history this season was senior Bob Dimling.

Netters Post 8-3 Record Falcons Undefeated In Non-Conference

Bowling Green's 1962 tennis squad became the second winningest team in Falcon history with an outstanding 8-3 mark. Only the 1925 team's unblemished 13-0 record surpassed this year's sophomore-laden aggregate.

Sophomore Lee Murray reached the finals of the Mid-American Conference championship before bowing to Toledo's Bill Nagy to pace Bowling Green to a fifth place finish.

The Falcon's were undefeated in six non-conference encounters including a major upset victory over highly-regarded tennis power Oberlin in the season finale.

Coach Robert Keefe's squad got off to a successful start with three straight wins, including conference triumphs at Marshall and Ohio University, before falling to Kent State in the first of three conference setbacks.

Individual standouts for the tennis team were Murray and junior Dick Haacke with 9-2 records and Ted Norris and Steve Brannan with 8-3 and 7-3 marks respectively.

Fourth in the Mid-American Conference

Falcon letterman Denny Rash positions himself for a return during the Western Michigan encounter.

Competition is fierce as over 800 games were played in the intramural basketball program. 600 individuals participated in four leagues.

In its first year of intercollegiate competition the Lacrosse team were winless against collegiate powers such as Denison, Oberlin and Ohio State.

Diversified IM Program Features 16 Competitive Activities

Functioning under new supervision, the men's intramural department continued to provide a highly extensive competitive program for undergraduate men.

Dr. David O. Mathews, after serving for fifteen years as head of Bowling Green's intramural program, resigned to become director of men's intramurals at the University of Illinois. Maurice O. Sandy was selected to fill the position. Mr. Sandy, a former graduate, came to Bowling Green from Mayfield Heights.

Greek and independent undergraduate men have the opportunity to participate in sixteen different activities ranging from the traditional football, basketball and softball competition to the all-campus foul shooting contest and the wrestling tournament. Basketball remained the most popular intramural activity as over 600 men participated in four leagues.

Extensive Program Offered By WIA

Under the careful supervision of Miss Dorothy Leudtke, director of women's intramurals, the Women's Intramural Association offers an extensive program of intramural sports and recreation for every undergraduate woman student.

Through the WIA, Bowling Green was represented for the first time in history in intercollegiate basketball. Appearing on the co-ed's schedule were Adrian, Kent, Dayton, and the University of Michigan.

Women have the opportunity to participate in numerous team activities through the WIA including basketball, softball, volleyball and field hockey.

Individually, there are programs and facilities to provide competition in archery, badminton, golf, swimming, bowling, modern dance, gymnastics and tennis.

Individual and dual sports are organized on a club basis and are run by student officers with the aid of faculty advisors headed by Miss Leudtke.

In addition to these intramural activities, WIA sponsors various special events such as the Swan Club Show and the Orchesis Concert.

SOCIETY

Harlan Tollman from the state architect's office, Harold Munger, architect of the Women's Residence Center, and H. E. Letson (far right) from the state architect's office look over the blueprints with F. Eugene Beatty.

Approximately 4500 meals are served every day in the dining halls of the Women's Residence Center

University Expansion Included New Dorms

Signs of a university's growth can be seen in its dormitory construction, and Bowling Green showed considerable growth this past year. Upperclass women moved into the newly-constructed Women's Residence Center this fall, which featured three large housing units with modernistic dining facilities. In the men's area, the building known as the Commons gave way to the ultra-modern men's dining hall, complete with laundromat, rathskeller, and recreation area, besides room to seat 1200 students at one time during meals. Plans were also laid for the construction of the new four-unit men's residence center, due for completion in 1964. Designed to hold 1400 students, this is just the first unit of three to be constructed in the near future.

Further expansion of the University will include this ultra-modern residence center for men, to be located east of campus.

Labor, materials, weather, time, and money are basic factors in the structure of this new building, to be a men's dining hall.

“M’s” Of Living Characterized Female Society

Weary from studying for finals, these coeds concentrate on their snack, perhaps discovering a new, secret ingredient

Muu-muus, midnight snacks, misplaced meal tickets, and much-awaited mail made up only a part of the average coed's life in the dorm. Curlers, radios, and stuffed animals usually decorated book shelves, while desks were cluttered with unfinished letters, favorite pictures, magazines, and textbooks. However, the women usually saw that these conditions underwent considerable change before room check.

Part of the busy schedule was devoted to attending weekly dorm corridor meetings, part of it to consistent autographing of the sign-in book, and most of it to standing in various dorm lines. To mention just a few, there was the breakfast line, the lunch line, the dinner line, the phone line, and, even with toothbrush and toothpaste in hand, the washroom line.

The wee hours usually found coeds gathering around the vending machine, enjoying a heated gab session, pounding doggedly at the typewriter, or cramming for next day's big exam.

Coeds usually find time for "just one more hand" before dinner in comfortable lounges.

Efficiently equipped rooms provide excellent opportunities for letter writing, relaxing, and study.

. . . While Men Practiced "Peaceful Co-Existence"

Bull sessions, all night cramming, perpetual card games, and shaving cream fights—each year these "traditions" make up part of a man's dormitory life. The dorm provides an environment in which the student learns the art of "peaceful co-existence" through living and learning with men of different backgrounds, races, and religions. In dorm living, a person is presented with the choice of accepting other people as they are or rejecting them because of dislike or prejudice. He may be amazed to find that there are others who are not interested in the same things that he is, who do not believe the same things that he does, and who have different goals in life than he has. The realization of these things is an important part of his university education.

Wherever We Lived, We Lived Together

Parties and dances characterized some of the social entertainment available for the student, but there were also the familiar bull-sessions with roommates, the trips to off-campus establishments for refreshments, and occasionally, when alone, time for reflective thinking. Working on the dorm decorations for Homecoming, laughing at jokes told by friends, learning how to win friends and lose enemies, were frequent social scenes.

Fraternities and sororities offered various types of social entertainment for their pledge classes and active members. Intermingling of the two groups with Friday night parties and Saturday morning work-sessions was a common scene on fraternity and sorority row. The twenty-nine Greek organizations on campus, though social groups by nature, stressed scholarship as the most important aspect, and operated the buddy system to accomplish this end. Together scholarship and social living constituted the basic functions for the masculine and feminine Greek organizations.

Banquet Entertainment Was High Point Of Fall Greek Week

The flame of Mt. Olympus lit the University campus as the annual Greek Week occupied the days of October 31 through November 3. The events opened with a banquet featuring the presentation of fraternity and sorority scholastic awards. Exchange parties, following themes of various foreign countries, were held at each house on Wednesday. Friday's carnival was highlighted by an "International Holiday" of Monte Carlo, Hawaii, and New York's Peppermint Lounge. Chi Omega and Theta Chi won the booth trophy for their "Mexican Fiesta." Theta Chi's Gerald Forstner won the prize as the best barker, and the "Drag-On Inn," a joint effort by Alpha Gamma Delta, Tau Kappa Epsilon, and Delta Upsilon, took the award for the most tickets sold. The winners were announced at the Greek Week Dance, Saturday night. Buddy Morrow's Orchestra provided the entertainment for the closing event of the Week.

Greek Week Committee: S. Weyrick, H. Rickard, G. Coulter, B. Vandenberg, C. Beck, B. Reynolds, B. Calhoun, coordinator, L. Brant, and D. Carr.

Renowned South African folk singer, Miriam Makeba, received a standing ovation from Greeks at the banquet.

Beta Theta Pi Joined Bowling Green's 16 Nationals

The one hundredth chapter of Beta Theta Pi national social fraternity was established on the Bowling Green campus November 2, 1962. The local fraternity, Beta Gamma, had been unanimously accepted at the national convention in August. More than 400 members from the eleven Beta chapters in Ohio and chapters in each of the neighboring states gathered for the November installation ceremonies in the Music Building.

At the banquet following, which was held in the Ballroom, President Harshman welcomed the Betas and their guests. Ford R. Weber, member of the Beta Advisory Council, was the master of ceremonies, and J. Moreau Brown, general secretary of Beta Theta Pi, presented the new chapter. The main speaker for the evening was Dr. Seth R. Brooks, national president of Beta Theta Pi fraternity, an honor for the new chapter.

Alpha Chi Omega

Alpha Chi Omega sported the largest membership on campus this year with 83 in the chapter. This busy group copped the first place trophy in the May Sing and paired with Sigma Phi Epsilon to win first place with their spring float. As their national service project, the Alpha Chi's helped the Wood County Cerebral Palsy Drive.

The senior sisters donned black masks and the traditional sweatshirts to participate in the annual Pumpkin Walk before Halloween. The annual Christmas dinner preceding the AWS formal was a treat for AXO dates, faculty members, and administrative officials.

Cap and Gown members Dianna Kellogg and Melinda Mathews served, respectively, as chairman of Spirit and Traditions Board and secretary of the Student Body. Other campus leaders were Nancy Link, first vice president of AWS; Alice McKay, secretary of the Senior Class; and Nancy Iden, managing editor of the KEY.

Alpha Delta Pi

Spring brought a feeling of pride to the Alpha Delta Pi house, as the group took first place in the Chariot Races, second place in the Pie Eating Contest, and third place in the May Sing.

The Alpha Delta Pi's hosted their traditional Parents Weekend in the fall and their annual Faculty Dessert at Christmas. Other springtime activities included a Little Sis Weekend with younger blood sisters getting a taste of Greek life first hand. Sisters joined together in making toys for crippled children as their philanthropic project.

The ADPi's collected their share of the awards as sisters Nancy Steen received the History Award, Barbara Solosky the Sociology Award, and Anna Schneider the German Award on Recognition Day. Joy McKittrick was Panhel corresponding secretary.

Alpha Gamma Delta

Last spring the sisters of Alpha Gamma Delta captured first prize for their colorful chariot at the chariot races, and triumphed again this fall with a third place position for Homecoming decorations.

Keeping the tradition of their International Altruistic Project, the sisters sponsored two parties for the benefit of cerebral palsy victims and the physically handicapped. A Halloween Party co-sponsored with Alpha Tau Omega was also given for the crippled children in Wood County. An all-campus serenade, an Apple Polishing Party for professors, a Tree-Trimming Party for alums, a White Elephant Sale with the Phi Kappa Tau's, the annual formal, and an all-campus bridge tournament contributed to the rest of an active Alpha Gam year.

Individual recognition went to Martha Smith who was graduated summa cum laude last spring, to Judy Nicholson who reigned as the Alpha Gam Venus Queen attendant, and to Ruth Hartman who served as treasurer of the Association of Women Students.

Alpha Phi

"I am an Alpha Phi, loyal and true," is the first line of a favorite Phi song. The Alpha Phi's have been loyal and true by working to make their sorority outstanding during the year. The actives and pledges won first place awards at the Panhellenic Dessert for scholarship and sisters were rewarded for their high grades at the traditional Steak-Mush Dinner. At Christmas the Phi's cooperated in sponsoring an Orphan Party and a tea for the faculty and administrative officials. They participated in the autumn serenade and helped with the annual Heart Fund Drive, their national philanthropic project. Recognition was given to alums at a dessert in the fall and a tea in the spring. With spring came fair weather and the Alpha Phi Formal. Throughout the year the sisters carried on a long feud involving a claim shared with the Sigma Nu's over a certain bench.

Jan Shepard was chosen Phi Kappa Tau Dream Girl and Faith Zuranski was appointed Student Court justice. Faith is also a member of Cap and Gown. This year the sisters welcomed a new housemother, Mrs. Mabel Peckham.

Alpha Xi Delta

"I'm going' to build me a castle painted blue and gold" ... Thus the Beta Mu Chapter of Alpha Xi Delta honors its colors of the double blue and gold. On campus since 1943, the "fuzzies" continue many traditions originally started in "the house on the hill."

Two sororities within the sorority, Gamma Mu Mu (Got My Man) and Omicron Mu Kappa (Old Maids' Klub) march twice a year, tapping and initiating new members. Each sister's secret sunshine sis hides her identity until the end of each semester at which time a special Sunshine Sis Dinner is held.

The annual Delta Gamma-Alpha Xi Delta Sneak takes place before Christmas when the two houses get together for an afterhours party. At the "fuzzies" bi-annual scholarship dinner sisters who better their grades from the previous semester eat steak; those who failed to do so eat beans.

Sorority royalty included Bonnie Gawronski, Miss Ohio of 1962, and Pat Lewicki, senior Homecoming attendant.

Castumed in paper leaves and smiles for the judges Alpha Xi's prepare for the Chariot Race parade.

Chi Omega

Chi Omegas were seen wearing their "X and a horse-shoe" all around the campus this year. The group placed in the Greek Olympics and the Pie-Eating and skit contests. From the first day of pledging to the senior banquet, Chi Omega sisters participated in Itty Bitty Buddy Week, the Steak 'n' Bean dinner for scholarship recognition (grades up or down), and the Owl Hunt.

Individuals topped awards for beauty, brains, and leadership. Sandra Scott, president of the chapter, served as president of Cap and Gown also. Carol Augsberger was president of AWS and also a member of Cap and Gown.

Other campus leaders were Barbara Hursh, AWS second vice president and junior Student Council representative; Paula Cooper, treasurer of the Sophomore Class; Marcia Ohly, Swan Club president; Sue Fisk, chairman of Communications Board; and Marilyn Van Aman, Charities Board chairman.

Reigning queens were Barbara Gourley, 1963 Homecoming Queen; Sandra Avery, Venus Queen; Ann Jo Purdy, Sigma Nu Sweetheart; and Sandra Scott, Sig Ep Queen of Hearts.

Delta Gamma

The Delta Gamma's enjoyed working in campus organizations while striving for high scholarship. During the year they had fun at their Steak and Bean Dinner, after-hours parties with the Alpha Xi's and Alpha Phi's, and Secret Sis Week. They also found time to work for their national project, sight conservation.

Graduating seniors Mary Jo Isch and Wanda Horlocker were recipients of Distinguished Service Awards on Recognition Day. Carol Fenn served as junior representative to AWS and Kathy Coutlett as sophomore representative to Student Council. This fall Sharon Gilmer and Carol Shaw cheered for the fighting Falcons as Becky Ameling, the red-headed majorette, marched down the field for her third year on the squad. Susan Barker served as a justice on Student Court. Sandra Lee Burt and Barbara Germann copped the sweetheart titles from Theta Chi and Phi Delta Theta respectively. The golden anchor was worn proudly by every DG.

Exuberant at becoming a sorority, members of Delta Xi Delta look at a scrapbook of the founding.

Delta Xi Delta

Delta Xi Delta, the newest addition to Bowling Green's family of Greek organizations, celebrated its first year of Greek life on campus as a member of Panhellenic Council. Founded locally in May of 1960 as Las Almas Society, Delta Xi Delta reached its present status in May of 1962.

Choosing beige and brown as their colors and the yellow rose as their flower, the sisters of Delta Xi participated in many activities. These included their Thanksgiving family project, their spring formal, pledge parties, and serenades. A new tradition was initiated when the Delta Xi's held a farewell recognition for their first group of senior graduates. Individual recognition went to Letha Hardy who served as president of Omega Phi Alpha, Eugenia Hodge, Spirit and Traditions Board member, and Karen Adams, Angel Flight member.

Now only a local sorority, Delta Xi Delta hopes to petition a national sorority in the near future and thereby add another house to the nationals already established.

Delta Zeta

Who wears the diamond and four pearls? . . . The 48,000 girls in the 145 collegiate chapters of Delta Zeta. Founded in 1902 at Miami University, Oxford, Ohio, Delta Zeta was established on this campus in 1950. Located near the windmill on south campus, the DZ house is the scene of year-round activity for the girls of Gamma Tau chapter.

In the fall, the traditional breakfast is held for AWS little sisses preceding the AWS Picnic. Homecoming this year saw DZ's Joyce Obropta elected junior attendant to the queen, while DZ's Homecoming display placed high in campus competition. A Holiday Dinner was held for the members of the faculty in December.

In the spring the DZ's announced their choice for DZ Man of the Year at their annual Rose Ball. They also awarded the trophy to the Outstanding Greek Woman at the Panhellenic Scholarship Banquet.

Gamma Phi Beta

The Gamma Phi Betas' twentieth year on campus was marked by the traditional Big-Little Sis Tea, the Pig's Dinner, the Senior Sneak and the Gammie Bugs at Christmas.

The girls who wore the black crescent pin proudly copped the first place trophy for their Homecoming decorations, a long rifle bearing the theme, "Falcons Get Your Gun, Put the Flashes on the Run." This was the second year in succession that the Gamma Phi's were champion decorators in the sorority division.

Springtime had brought individual honors to the house. Joan Houston was named Theta Chi Pledge Class Dream Girl; Linda List was elected junior class secretary; and Ann Upson was chosen commander of Angel Flight. Jan Dickman was Kappa Sig sweetheart and Nancy Knapp Pershing Rifles sponsor.

Kappa Delta

Kappa Delta sisters enjoyed many special events throughout the school year. Traditionally they held their Scholarship Dinner. The "losers" whose grades went down provided a skit and steak dinner for the "winners," sisters who had improved their grades from last semester. The high point of the Christmas season was the Buffet Party for the alums. A spring formal honored their new pledge class and sisters "living in" surprised those "living out" of the house with a group birthday party.

Keeping the tradition of the green and white, KD's found time for their philanthropic project, crippled children. Two handicapped teenage girls spent a college weekend with the sisters, enjoying the activities of sorority women.

Outstanding members included Carol Pellingier, president of Panhellenic Council, Carol Beck, KD president, and Judy Harris, secretary-treasurer of Angel Flight.

One Santa Claus plus many presents equalled a group of happy kids and a successful party.

Phi Mu

The sisters of the Delta Kappa chapter of Pi Mu once more enjoyed a school year filled with traditions and campus activities.

Parties were included in the variety of events held by the sisters of Phi Mu during the '62-'63 schedule. A pledge-active party, a senior recognition party, and a traditional Christmas party for a neighboring group of underprivileged children, co-sponsored by the brothers of Delta Tau Delta, made up part of the social calendar. The sisters also held a fall serenade, and sponsored an orphan for their yearly philanthropic project. The Phi Mu traditional Spring Formal was held in March for the sisters.

Receiving campus recognition as an outstanding individual member of the sisterhood of Phi Mu, Carol Jeffreys sang the soprano lead in the University presentation of "The Messiah."

Alpha Phi Alpha

The brothers of Alpha Phi Alpha proudly accepted the trophy for Most Improved Scholarship awarded them last spring by The Sigma Chi Foundation.

They then started off the new school year with a Coffee House party featuring a beatnik theme. Later the Alpha Phi Alpha's held a pajama party and their annual Sweet-heart Ball. Mothers were remembered at a Mother's Day Tea and the fraternity sponsored get-acquainted dances for the freshmen. The first Alpha Bowl pledge-active football game was held complete with "Queen" and attendants Karen Adams and Barbara Falvey.

The house of the black and gold instituted the tradition of being well dressed on Fridays and Founder's Day. Once again they participated in a migration to a chapter on another campus. President of Epsilon Theta chapter was Ted Gamble.

Alpha Tau Omega

Richly steeped in chapter and campus tradition, Bowling Green's Epsilon Kappa chapter of Alpha Tau Omega was again very active this year. "Old Alpha", the fraternity's well known blue and gold victory bell clanged often during BG's conference-winning football season, and loudest at the ATO-sponsored Dad's Day festivities in November.

January found the brothers adding the third annual Miss B.G.S.U. Pageant to their busy social calendar. Other ATO social events of the year included a Sadie Hawkins Party, a Pkshagen Ski Party, and the Annual Spring Formal. Paired with the sisters of Alpha Gamma Delta, the ATO's sponsored an October party for a group of crippled children.

The fraternity's outstanding brothers this year included Robert Chism who held the position of Treasurer of the Student Body; Tom Short who served as President of the Senior Class; Vern Vechle who served as Treasurer of L.F.C.; and Richard Richards, who was an active Junior Representative to Student Council.

Brothers of Alpha Tau Omega await another game, another victory and another "Old Alpha" serenade.

Beta Theta Pi

On August 29, 1962 Beta Gamma was unanimously accepted into the national brotherhood of Beta Theta Pi, and during November the one hundredth chapter of Betas, designated Delta Delta, was installed at Bowling Green State University. The 1962-63 school year proved to be a very active one for the newly initiated Betas.

The busy Beta calendar included parties with the brothers of Ohio Wesleyan's Beta Chapter, and the brothers of BG's ZBT chapter at Christmastime. A special weekend for the members of the Miami Triad was enjoyed by all, together with many on-campus sorority-fraternity get togethers.

Active in campus affairs, many brothers of Beta Theta Pi deserve individual recognition. John Lucas served as the Executive Vice President of I.F.C.; Larry Snyder served as the President of the U.A.O.; and both were initiated into Omicron Delta Kappa. Serving as I.F.C. representatives this year were Mike Cabot and Neil Heighberger. Staff members who pledged BG's new Beta chapter during the 1962 fall semester included Edward Rhine, director of University Relations; Warren Scholler, assistant basketball coach; and Paul Moyer, state auditor's office.

Delta Tau Delta

Each year the brothers of Delta Tau Delta sponsor, as a community service, an Easter Egg Hunt in City Park for the children of Wood County. The Deltas started their social year with a Freshman Party for freshman women to introduce them to Greek life . . . and men. The Flintstone Fling was next on their calendar, with the brothers and their dates dressed in caveman attire, making the occasion even more authentic. Later in the semester, the Deltas co-sponsored an All-Campus Jazz Festival, helped brighten the Christmas season with a party for underprivileged children, and held their yearly Pajama Party. The social season closed with the Delta Tau Delta Spring Formal, at which Miss Jean Leupold was selected Delt "Sweetheart."

The President of Delta Tau Delta was Wallace B. Mackey, and the Vice President was Richard Reinhardt, who also served as secretary of IFC and as a member of the wrestling team.

Delta Upsilon

Seen struggling through the halls of Founders under heaps of luggage during the first fall days of the year were the brothers of Delta Upsilon. Their porter service for freshman women this fall was such a success that the brothers plan to make it a permanent event on their school calendar.

Once again this year the brothers of Delta Upsilon, the only non-secret fraternity in existence, sponsored many popular events on the Bowling Green social schedule. The costume worn by the girls at the DU Yard Party held in the fall consisted of only one yard of material, and a prize was awarded to the girl returning the biggest piece of unused cloth. For the thirteenth consecutive year, the brothers held their DU Bike Race, one of the six all-campus events to be sponsored by Greek organizations. Their calendar of activities came to a close this spring with their annual Rose Formal.

The brothers again received campus recognition by winning the Alpha Tau Omega "Help Week Trophy" for the fourth year in a row.

Kappa Sigma

Kappa Sigma, steeped in tradition, traces its international birth to the year 1400 at the University of Bologna in Italy and its national founding to 1869 at the University of Virginia.

The chapter at Bowling Green emphasizes an academic program and provides worthwhile incentive for scholastic achievement. From the largest endowment fund for any fraternity comes a $100 and a $50 award to a senior and junior in each chapter for exceptional abilities in service, leadership, and scholarship.

Along with a number of dinners and parties with sororities, Kappa Sigs enjoyed their annual Christmas party and "Go to Hell" party in the fall. In the spring they held a closed formal and sponsored a major all-campus event, the Chariot Races. Campus officers this past year have included David Hunger, Student Body President; William Calhoun, Junior Class President; Richard Coleman, Student Court member.

Phi Delta Theta

Phi Delta Theta proved itself to be a highly diversified fraternity by its accomplishments in athletics, scholarship, and social events this year. The Phi Delt active chapter was second in scholarship and remained active in the field of varsity sports. Howard Comstock was co-captain of the swimming team, and Jerry Paner served as co-captain of the wrestling team. In addition, many Phi Delt members filled positions on the football, baseball, basketball, and track teams.

The Phi Delt members also held many responsible positions in numerous campus organizations: Keith Sommer served as President of the Varsity Club; Bruce Campbell served as President of IFC; and Stephan Willey held the position of Chairman of IFPC and served as a member of the Judicial Board.

Each year, the Phi Delt members hold a community service day. The entire chapter helps to improve the town by cleaning and fixing up a private home or park. This year the social calendar included the Casino Party, the Delta Theta Week.

Top hats and walking canes were the attire of the Phi Psi's as they competed in the annual IFC Sing.

Phi Kappa Psi

The object of the brothers of Phi Kappa Psi was to maintain a chapter whose members had interests extending to all fields. Scholastically they lived up to that goal by placing second grade-wise and receiving the IFC trophy for the most improvement at the Greek Week Banquet.

Other trophies won by the Phi Psi's were for third place in the Spring Weekend Float contest, first place for Chariot Race Decorations, and first for their Pic Week skit. Socially they sponsored an all-campus "Welcome Back" dance in the fall and held their Dawn Dance in the spring.

Brothers active on campus included Darrell Opfer in Phi Eta Sigma, and Phi Alpha Theta honor societies and Ed Smith, a member of Interfraternity Council and Phi Eta Sigma.

Phi Kappa Tau

Phi Kappa Tau awarded its first All Sports Trophy this year to the fraternity performing best in all intra-fraternity sports for both semesters. The most important Phi Tau social events consisted of the annual Christmas Party, Playboy Formal, Winter Ski Party, and the Dream Girl Formal and Mother's Weekend, both held in the spring. The brothers also held a jam session after the Ohio University-Bowling Green football game.

In the Beta Tau Chapter tradition ranks high and this year was no exception. Along with the All Sports Trophy, there were many other awards such as the Pledge Class Big Brother award and the "Big B" award for the active who was selected "Hardnose" during the pledge period. The "lucky" active brother who was selected "Big B" was Larry Lance. Larry was treated to a personal line-up conducted by the pledges and received the honor of being tarred, feathered, loaded on a chariot, and pulled through Sorority Row by twenty-six jubilant pledges.

PIE EATING contest skits gave Greeks a chance to throw a little of everything.

Phi Kappa Alpha

Pi Kappa Alpha, Bowling Green's oldest national fraternity, was founded in 1868 at the University of Virginia. Known on campus for their famous fire truck, the "Pikes" were noted for their spirit and enthusiasm. The spring semester found the Pikes preparing for their annual "Pie Week" which consisted of parties, serenades, skits, and the celebrated "Pie Eating" contest. Another Pi Kappa Alpha event was the annual selection of a Dream Girl from the Freshman Class to represent the fraternity at official functions. Sandra O'Leary was the Dream Girl of 1963. Together with Alpha Xi Delta sorority, Pi Kappa Alpha helped bring the Christmas spirit to the crippled children of Wood County with their annual Christmas party.

Last semester found the Pikes in fourth place in scholarship among all the fraternities on campus. This, combined with athletic competition, social activities, and brotherhood rounded out an adventure in true fraternal leadership.

Sigma Alpha Epsilon

Sigma Alpha Epsilon opened the 1962-63 year by winning first place in the fraternity division of Homecoming decorations. The SAE's transformed the chapter house into a medieval castle built around the slogan, "Drop the Bridge on Kent-alot!"

The brothers were active in campus life as shown by their membership in organizations such as SAM, UAO, and by their participation on The B-G-News and IFC Judicial Board. Athletically, the SAE's won second place in fraternity basketball and softball, and third place in football during the 61-62 seasons.

Social events were numerous, and included the SAE-Gamma Phi Christmas Party for underprivileged children, and an intra-chapter party with the brothers of Toledo University. Other traditional events were the "Harvest Hop," "High School Harry Party," and the Spring Formal. Ronald White served as president.

Before the rains came, the SAE's took refuge in their prize winning castle with drawbridge.

Sigma Chi

The White Cross of Sigma Chi has been the symbol of leadership in fraternity scholarship for the last three semesters. At the end of the spring semester last year the Sig's average record was 2.65.

Derby Day again proved to be a Sig lay day with a record breaking attendance and an equal amount of enthusiasm. The brothers had plenty of weekend activities to help them recuperate from classes. The year began with a "Peanuts" party and was succeeded by a Dixieland Jazz

Festival, an annual hayride, and a work party to which the brothers and their dates wore the clothes of their summer occupations. The highlight of the Sig social program was their Sweetheart Ball, when Patricia Lewicke was chosen to reign as "The Sweetheart of Sigma Chi."

Robert Dimling was President of Omicron Delta Kappa and the Varsity Club. James Helwig was Sophomore Class President, and Treasurer of the Junior Class was Steven Henderson.

Sigma Nu

A few brothers, a tape recorder, a lazy afternoon . . . another Sigma Nu jam session! During the last few years Sigma Nu and jam sessions have gone hand-in-hand, and this year the brothers once again carried on with their popular tradition.

Other activities also helped to fill the Sigma Nu calendar to make the '62-'63 year an active one. Winners of the 1962 spring DU Bike Race, the Sigma Nu's held a Viking Party during the fall. A transformation of their house into a Viking ship plus costumed brothers and their dates made up the colorful festivities. Following many casual twist parties, their annual Spring White Rose Formal brought the year to an end.

Outstanding brothers receiving individual recognition included Edward Moore, who served as an active member of IFC and Judicial Board, and Donald Winston, who was coordinator of the IFC Four Point Program and was tapped into Antaeus, a new fraternity honorary society on campus.

A firm handshake and a smile that says, "Congratulations," welcomes a pledge to Sig Ep Greek Life

Sigma Phi Epsilon

Sigma Phi Epsilon has as its goal a progressive and diverse fraternity. The brothers won the May Float contest for the second year and the Fraternity Cross Country Meet for three years running.

One of the chapter's most popular projects was the Sig Ep Calendar Girls, women from each sorority who graced each month of the year. Traditionally, the fraternity held a buffet for 600 Freshman women to introduce them to campus social life. A third tradition kept by the Sig Ep's was the Stockade. Any pinned brother was liable to be put in it at any time. His pin-mate had the privilege of throwing a bucket of cold water on him.

The biggest event of the year was the Queen of Hearts Ball named after the heart shaped Sig Ep badge. Last year's Sig Ep Queen was Sandra Scott. Sig Ep's held leadership positions such as junior and senior representatives to Student Council, Orientation Board chairman, vice president of the IFG, and vice-president of the Junior and Senior Classes.

Tau Kappa Epsilon

Zeta Lambda, Bowling Green's chapter of Tau Kappa Epsilon, boasted membership in the largest fraternity in the National Interfraternity Council. Founded in 1899, Tau Kappa Epsilon's total number of chapters grew to 190. In the fall the brothers were host to representatives of every school in the Mid-American Conference for a Province Leadership School. In the spring, the "Tekes" brought good will to a group of orphans by entertaining them at an Easter party.

The social roster of the chapter included dances with sororities every other week during the second semester, and the May Formal, when Tau Kappa Epsilon representatives from other chapters throughout the country gathered on BG's campus. Tau Kappa Epsilon's paramount objective was brotherhood which was accomplished by maintaining strong intra-fraternity and member relationships. The Zeta Lambda chapter had 40 members this year with Daniel Heschel presiding as President.

Brothers of Tau Kappa Epsilon show a softer side of Greek life as they entertain orphans with Alpha Gams.

Theta Chi

The seventy brothers of Theta Chi certainly were "... the men you hear so much about" this year as they attained recognition in many fields. The Bun's secured the trophies for the booth and the best barker at the Greek Week Carnival. They triumphed in the sports world also, taking the Intramural Championships in swimming and football and placing second in wrestling.

Getting back into the swing of college life was made easy last fall with their annual Hayride, and cool weather brought the Theta Chi Winter Formal. Theme parties sported the titles, "Playboy" and "Spook." TGIF parties had a permanent place on the Bun agenda. In the fall the brothers serenaded the sorority pledge classes, presenting a red carnation to each pledge. Brotherhood was in full force at the Big Little Brother Banquet, and amidst all the confusion of the year the Theta Chi's took time out to honor their parents at a Parents Weekend, which climaxed with the crowning of the Theta Chi Dream Girl, Sandra Burt, and the Theta Chi Dream Mother, Mrs. Robert Frost.

Burning "Bun" lights up the night in tribute to the brother who lost his pin and his heart.

Enthusiastic supporters of Kennedy's physical fitness program, ZBT's are caught with shorts on.

Zeta Beta Tau

With the black diamond shaped pin secured over their hearts, a container for coins in one hand and a bag of lollipops in the other, the brothers of Zeta Beta Tau collected $300 last spring during their newly-organized "Lick a Lollipop for Cancer" drive. The ZBT's social calendar included their annual ZBT-sorority all star game in which members of each sorority were challenged to a softball game. Following the event a banquet was held and the outstanding woman player was chosen. The Esquire Ball was another ZBT convention with Miss Sherrill Bash chosen Miss Esquire. The season ended with the annual Sweetheart Dance.

On campus the Zeta Beta Tau's were represented by Bert Staadecker who was vice-president of the Senior Class and James Richardson, an issue editor for the B-G News.

IDENTITY

Senior Class Officers

Serving as the officers of the Senior Class this year, were Thomas Shart (standing), president, Albert Staadecker, vice-president, Nancy Link, treasurer, and Alice McKay, secretary. The Seniors edited a placement brochure listing the name, major, campus activities, and address of each member of the graduating class, and distributed it to all companies interested in employing Bowling Green graduates.

Freshman Class Officers

Robert DeBard, treasurer, Bernie Gresick, president, Susy Horth, secretary, and James Oliver, vice-president—with these four officers as leaders, the Freshman Class initiated a Class of 1966 Grant Fund in which they deposited $900. The money will be available for scholarship purposes to all those in the 1962 Freshman class until their graduation

The attention of the Junior Class, along with Stephen Henderson, Treasurer, Dennis McGurer, Vice President, Linda List, Secretary, and William Calhoun, President, was concentrated primarily on Spring Weekend, on which they worked to make a "new" campus event.

The Sophomore Class and its officers Paula Cooper, Treasurer, Richard Rogers, Vice President, James Helwig, President, and Sara Maughan, Secretary, were responsible for a successful Homecoming celebration last fall, despite a lack of co-operation from the weather. They also sponsored the "TGIF" dances held in the Dogwood Suite of the Union on Friday of each month.

Cygnets Savings Bank Company has two convenient offices, one in Cygnets and the other in Wayne, Ohio. It serves Bowling Green State University students through its convenient bank by mail service around the clock.

Home Laundry & Dry Cleaner's pick-up and delivery makes possible laundry and dry cleaning service to the campus. The firm is at 110 W. Poe Rd.

Congratulations and best wishes to the class of 1963 from the brothers of Delta Tau Delta Fraternity. We know you will represent your Alma Mater well.

If entertainment, relaxation and comfort are your pleasure you may have been to the Cla-Zel or Portage Drive-In. Movies are top entertainment.

Across from Sorority Row is the University Dairy Bar, ideal for quick snacks, lunches, and full meals.

Acknowledgements

"A picture is worth a thousand words"—this old saying is almost a law when it comes to a publication such as this and how we wish we had a picture to show our appreciation to the many thousands who made this book possible—the students, faculty, administration, to name a few. It is an impossibility to say in these few lines thanks to everyone by name; they can only find assurance of accomplishment in the tangible, final product.

The KEY would like to thank a few people who worked very closely with the staff . . . our adviser, Mr. Jim Gordon for his excellent technical assistance, and advice . . . our printer, Mr. Jud Rinebold of Gray Printing Company for his careful management of the production . . . the University photographer, Mr. Bob Glasheen for his fine photography, reproduced often in the volume.

Caught on the job on a cold day, Bob Glasheen covers a football game, one of the many events he recorded during the past two years as University photographer.

Colophon

Printed on Watervliet Glossette, made by the Watervliet Paper Company, Watervliet, Michigan, this volume has been produced by the Gray Printing Company, Fostoria, Ohio, in an edition of 5,100 copies.

Text type has been set in 10 point Baskerville, while the headlines have been set in 18, 24, 48, and 96 point Caslon Bold 79J. Captions have been set in 8 and 10 point Metro-lite and Metrobold. The cover has been lithographed by the S. K. Smith Company of Chicago, Illinois.

The old makes way for the new as the new eleven-story administration building towers over its predecessor.
